Wand of orcus dnd 5e

Source: Master's Guide Dungeon Wand, Artifact (requires tuning) The hideous wand of Orcus rarely leaves the Orcus side. The device, as evil as its creator, shares that the demon Lord aims to lift the lives of all living things and linking the material plan on stasis from afar. Orcus allows the wand runs from time to time in a while. When he does, magically appears wherever his master feels the opportunity to achieve some goal. Made of bones so hard as iron, the wand is covered with a magically increased bleed that once belonged to a dead human hero by Orcus. The wand can change magically in size for best in accordance with the grip of your user. Murcha plants, beverages spoil, the rods of meat and worms thrive in the presence of the wand. Any authentic creature of the orcus that tries to tune into the wand should make a set of constitution of DC 17. In a successful rescue, the creature takes 10D6 necrotic damage. In a failed rescue, the creature dies and rises as a zombie. In the hands of someone who is tuned in, the wand can be wielded as a magical apple that grants a BÀNUS + 3 to attack and damage rolls made with it. The wand causes extra 2D12 necrotic damage in a hit. Random properties. The Orcus wand has the following random properties: 2 Beneath Properties Minor 1 Beneficial Properties Large 2 Properties Chowder 1 Main Determining Property The harmful properties of the orcus wand are suppressed while the wand is tuned to the Orcus itself. Protection. You win a +3 bonus for armor class, keeping the wand. Witches. The wand has 7 accusations. While you will handle it, you can use an action and spend 1 or more of your charges to launch one of the following spells (Save DC 18): Animate Dead (1 Charges), Blue ( 2 charges), circle of death (3 charges), death finger (3 charges), Word of Power Matança (4 charges), or speech with dead (1 cost). The wand recovers 1D4 + 3 costs spent daily at dawn. While tuning to the wand, orcus or a follower blessed by it can launch each of the wand wells using plus 2 fees (minimum of 0). Call dead-live. While you are holding the wand, you can use an action to conjure skeletons and zombies, calling so many of them as you can divide 500 life points between, every dead-living having multi-points (see the manual of the monster for statistics). The undead magically get up from the ground or otherwise in unoccupied spaces within 300 feet of you and obey your commands until they are destroyed or until the dawn of the next day when they collapsam In inanimate piles of rotten bones and cadavers. After using this wand property, you can not use it again until the next dawn. While tuning to the wand, Orcus can summon any kind of living dead, not just skeletons and zombies. The undeads do not perish or disappear at dawn the next day, remaining to orcus discard them. Sincidence. The orcus wand is an item of the bad and cautious evil with an intelligence of 16, a wisdom of 12 and a charisma of 16. has audition and darkness for a range of 120 feet. The wand communicates telepathically with your carrier and can speak, read and understand abyssal and common. Personality. The purpose of the wand is to help meet the desire for Orcus to kill everything in the multiverse. The wand is cold, cruel, nihilist and devoid of humor. In order to promote the goals of his masters, the wand pretends the devotion to his current user and makes the grandiose promise that he has no intention of fulfilling, as the promotion to help your user overthrow Orcus. Destroying the wand. Destroying the Orcus wand requires it to be taken to the Positiva Energy Plan by the ancient hero whose cradle supports them. So this happens, Lost Heroke There is a long time to be restored to life - no easy task, given the fact that Orcus imprisoned the soul of hero and keep it hidden and well guarded. Bathing the wand in positive energy causes it to crack and explode, but unless the conditions were met, the wand instantly reform in Orcus Orcus of the abyss.
